THE CIVIL DEFENCE ACT, 1968

INTRODUCTION

In 1962 when the Chinese invaded our country it was felt that in order to minimise loss of life, to maintain continuity of prohibition and to restore quickly the disrupted civil services, Civil Defence measures are required to be adopted in places where the most likely targets of enemy air attack. With a view to provide the legal cover, a Chapter on the subject was added in the Defence of India Act, 1962 and thereunder rules for Civil Defence Services, were framed. This law ceased to be operative six months after the revocation of the emergency which was declared at the time of the invasion. To provide necessary machinery for raising and training the volunteers to man the various Civil Defence Services and also to make other preparations as to enable the authorities to adopt Civil Defence measures at short notice wherever necessary, the Civil Defence Organisation was retained. For the continued maintenance of Civil Defence Services which were already in position in the States and Union Territories Civil Defence Bill was introduced in the Parliament.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

After the Chinese invasion of our country in 1962 it was felt that in order to minimise loss of life, to maintain continuity of prohibition and to restore quickly the disrupted civil services, Civil Defence measures should be adopted in places which were the most likely targets of enemy air attack. With a view to providing the legal cover, a Chapter on the subject was included in the Defence of India Act, 1962 and rules for Civil Defence Services were framed thereunder.

2. This law will however, cease to be operative six months after the revocation of the emergency but the Civil Defence Organisation as such has to be retained to provide the necessary machinery for raising and training the volunteers to man the various Civil Defence services and also to make other preparations so as to enable the authorities to adopt Civil Defence measures at short notice wherever necessary.

3. The Bill aims at continued maintenance of Civil Defence Services which are already in position in the States and Union Territories. It also enables the Central Government and the State Governments to extend the scope of Civil Defence if and when it may become necessary to do so.

4. This Bill incorporates all the provisions of Chapter III of the Defence of India Act and other relevant provisions spread over other chapters of the Defence of India Act and Rules. It also provides for payment of compensation to Civil Defence volunteers for injuries sustained while on duty.

ACT 27 OF 1968

The Civil Defence Bill having been passed by both the Houses of Parliament received the assent of the President on 24th May, 1968. It came on the Statute Book as THE CIVIL DEFENCE ACT, 1968 (27 of 1968) (Came into force on 10-7-1968).

LIST OF AMENDING ACTS

Provided that if there is in existence in any area in a State, immediately before the commencement of this Act in that area, an organisation which, in the opinion of the State Government, may be entrusted with the functions of the Corps, the State Government may, instead of constituting a separate Corps for such area, call upon that organisation to take over or discharge the functions of the Corps in that area, and thereupon such organisation shall be deemed, for the purpose of this Act, to be the Corps for that area.

(2) The State Government may, for the purpose of co-ordinating the activities of the Controllers within the State, appoint a Director of Civil Defence and every Controller shall comply with the directions given by such Director.

COMMENTS

(i) Member of a police force cannot be a member of corps in Civil Defence and therefore, he is not eligible under the Act for enrolment in Civil Defence; Bhagwati Prasad Gordhan Dass Bhatt v. State of Gujarat, 1979 (3) SLR 805.

(ii) Section 4(1) of the Act provides for the constitution of the Civil Defence Corps by the concerned State but the proviso to that sub-section says that if in any State there is in existence an organisation which can be entrusted the functions of the Corps, the State Government may instead of constituting a separate Corps, call upon the said organisation to take over and discharge the functions of the Corps whereupon such organisation shall be deemed to be the Corps for the area; S.K. Mukherjee v. Union of India, AIR 1994 SC 2485: 1994(5) SCC 498.

*. Subs. by Act 42 of 1971, sec. 6 (during emergency and six months thereafter) (w.e.f. 3-12-1971):

"(3) Any rule made under sub-section (1) may provide that a contravention thereof or any order made or direction given thereunder shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both."

(iii) Section 4(2) of the Act empowers the State Government to appoint a Director of Civil Defence to co-ordinate the activities of the Controllers within the State; S.K. Mukherjee v. Union of India, AIR 1994 SC 2485 : 1994(5) SCC 498.

5. Appointment of members and officers.—(1) The State Government may appoint as members of the Corps persons who are fit and willing to serve as such and the Controller may appoint any member so appointed to such office or command in the Corps, as such member is, in the opinion of the Controller, fit to hold.

(2) Every person appointed to be a member of the Corps shall be given a certificate of membership in such form as may be prescribed.

COMMENTS

Under S. 5 (1) it is the State Government which is empowered to appoint members of the Corps. Thus the constitution of the Civil Defence Corps, the appointment of the Controller and the appointment of members or officers of the Corps is with the State Government; S.K. Mukherjee v. Union of India, AIR 1994 SC 2485: 1994 (5) SCC 498.

6. Dismissal of members of Civil Defence Corps.—(1) Where any member of the Corps fails or has failed, in the opinion of the Controller, to discharge his duties as such member satisfactorily or is or has been found guilty of any misconduct in the discharge of his duties as such member, the Controller may, after an inquiry in which such member of the Corps has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of the charges against him, by an order, dismiss such member from the Corps.

(2) Where the Controller is of opinion that the continued presence of any member of the Corps is undesirable, he may, without assigning any reason, summarily dismiss such member from the Corps.

7. Appeal.—A member of the Corps who is dismissed from the Corps under section 6 may prefer an appeal to the State Government within thirty days from the date of such dismissal and that Government may, on such appeal, confirm, modify or reverse the order made by the Controller or other authority.

8. Functions of members of Civil Defence Corps.—(1) The members of the Corps shall perform such functions in relation to the carrying out of measures for civil defence as may be assigned to them by rules made under this Act or by any other law for the time being in force.

(2) The State Government or the Controller may, by order, call out a member of the Corps for training or for discharging such functions in relation to the carrying out of measures for civil defence as may be specified in such order.

(3) Subject to such orders as the Central Government may make in this behalf, any member of the Corps of any State may at any time be required, by order, to discharge functions in relation to civil defence in any other State and shall while discharging such functions, be deemed to be a member of the Corps of that other State and be vested with the powers, functions and privileges and be subject to the liabilities of a member of the Corps in that other State.

9. Power to make regulations.—(1) The Central Government may, by notification, make regulations for carrying out the purposes of this Chapter.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such regulations may—

- (a) prescribe the functions of the members of the Corps and regulate the manner in which they may be called out for service;
- (b) regulate the organisation, appointment, conditions of service, discipline, accoutrement and clothing of members of any or all of the Corps;
- (c) prescribe the form of certificates of membership of any or all of the Corps.
